RETIREMENT SAVINGS ACCOUNT

Your assurance to a promising future

Did you know that when you stop working and retire at age 55, or if you have been unemployed for more than 12 months, you can choose to place your retirement benefits payout into a Retirement Savings Account?

The RSA helps you to use your savings wisely so you have a secure and comfortable lifestyle after you retire.

It removes the temptation to spend your retirement savings payout in one lump sum, which could leave you with nothing to support you for the rest of your life.

It is so easy to open an RSA.

Pick up a copy of the Superannuation Benefit Payment Application form and fill out the RSA section and you choose how you want the funds paid to you, as regular income or yearly lump sum payments.

You also nominate at this time who will receive the remaining balance should you die.

There are many other benefits to opening a RSA.

If you withdraw your benefits as a lump sum they will be taxed, but there is no tax payable when you transfer them into the RSA.

Withdrawals from your RSA continue to remain tax free if you keep withdrawals within the limits specified.
